Progressive Candidate Addresses Didsbury Audience.

At the Opera House, on Tuesday night the first political meeting in connection with the forthcoming elections was held by the Progressive candidate, Mr. A. Speakman. The attendance was thoroughly representative of both town and country and considering the weather conditions and the state of the roads, it was unusually good. Interest on the part of country residents was very keen, as may be evidenced from the fact that many of them journeyed fifteen and twenty miles over rough roads in order to be present.

The chair was taken by J. W. Phillips, who was accompanied on the platform by Dave Irwin.

In introducing the speaker of the evening, the chairman briefly outlined the object of the meeting and requested for Mr. Speakman a fair and impartial hearing.

In opening his address, Mr. Speakman said he thoroughly appreciated the opportunity in discussing with them matters connected with the government of the country. It was not his intention to speak party politics but to address them more from a business point of view, and he took it that their presence there that night signified they realized it was their business. Taxation was something they were all acquainted with. It was their constant companion. Taking a survey of the country they found much to encourage them whilst on the other hand there were problems which must cause them serious concern.

Taxation was said to be comparatively light in Canada, because we had a lower income tax than in some other countries. What were the facts? The federal income for 1924 (to March 31, 1925), was made up as follows: Customs, 168 millions; Excise, 39 millions; Sales tax, 85 millions; Income Tax, 56 millions; Post Office, 28 millions; other taxes, etc., 27 million. So the income tax after all, was only 56 millions out of 344 millions—a mere item. Most of our taxes were indirect and subject to the great objection to all indirect taxes, that they pyramided, doubled or more by the time they reached the consumer. The tariff was not only paid on imported goods, but also added to the price of home made goods. All consumers had to pay as much again for the privilege of having their taxes levied indirectly, and therefore disguised as high prices—but the farmer must pay most.

Coming to the matter of economy, the speaker said we were paying $140,000,000 a year in interest charges. Personally he never voted for expenditure except on basis, adopted by the Commission with only one dissentient vote, and by parliament unanimously. The rural Credits Bill, allocating $10,000,000 for the scheme, to be lent to various provinces, had been alright except for one clause, what the speaker called a "joker"—the absurd provision that the farmer's first mortgage, securing the loan, should take precedence of all taxes, provincial, municipal, and school. The Senate had quite rightly kicked out the measure with this absurd provision on the day it was sent up to them, the day before prorogation. For once he commended the Senate for having done the sensible thing.

On transportation, the speaker said neither King nor Meighen had offered any constructive suggestions. The problem resolved itself into two parts. First there was the general question. We had two great railway systems, with duplication and overlapping of service, owing to the mistakes of past years. A C.P.R. and a C.N.R. train start from a union station within two minutes of each other, travel 200 miles over competitive roads, arriving at the same place two minutes apart, with half loads. Amalgamation had been suggested, even by the Senate. The scheme looked very nice on the surface—for the C.P.R., but was it nice for the country? A first charge on the amalgamated road was to be C.P.R. dividends on the present scale, any possible remainder to be used for the reduction of taxes. But the land that the C.P.R. had got practically free, their ocean steamship lines, and other assets, were all to be outside the combine—all but just the railway. He did not think Canada was ready yet for a monopoly, even a public one.

The other side of the transportation problem was the question and control of rates. The speaker dealt with the Crow's Nest Pass rate controversy, which had now become a thing of the past. They had asked that rates in the Western zone should not exceed by more than 10 per cent rates in the Eastern zone for similar loads over similar distances. He said we must have men in parliament who would fight for the rights of the west.

Several questions put by the audience

Preparing for the Fray

To all outward appearance the coming general elections have barely caused a ripple to disturb the even surface of local politics, and the average citizen consequently finds it somewhat difficult to gauge the situation. There is none of the heated controversy that one has become accustomed to at such times, discussion is at a minimum, and excitement is non-existent.

The only facts so far apparent are that an election will take place on October 29, and to represent the constituency of Red Deer (in which Didsbury is situated) Mr. Thomas Kercher of Olds is seeking election in behalf of the Liberal party and Mr. A. Speakman of that of the Progressives. The Conservative party, apparently is without a candidate.

Mr. Kercher has resided in Olds for about twenty-six years, and can therefore, rightfully claim to be an old-timer, and one who knows and understands the needs and requirements of the district. As a farmer and general merchant he has been uniformly successful, and no doubt will prove a good candidate. Mr. Kercher was nominated at a Liberal convention in Red Deer on September 21st.

Mr. A. Speakman is seeking re-election as a candidate of the Progressive party, and in view of the big majority rolled up by him before and the strong support he is receiving on this occasion, he is a formidable opponent for any man.

Dr. Wagner of Innisfail was reported to have accepted the Conservative nomination and later on resigned. So far, it is understood, the endeavour to find a successor has failed. Another convention of the Conservative party, however, is being held at Red Deer to-day, October 8, to re-consider the situation.

ROAD CONTRACT FOR LOCAL FIRM.

The contract for grading and graveling the road between Carsairs and Olds was awarded Saturday by the provincial department of public works to the Didsbury firm of contractors, McCann and McCoy, as their tender, one among fourteen, was $145 lower than the next best offer made.

It is understood operations will commence right away. The contract will afford a considerable amount of work for the farmers in the district traversed by the road.

NO THRESHING YET.

The weather conditions have not as yet shown any tendency to moderate and farming operations are meanwhile suspended. Threshing has been attempted in one or two cases, but due to excessive moisture the work was abandoned. It seems to be the general opinion that so far the grade has not been affected to any great extent, and only given the opportunity it is expected a renewal of threshing will show a grade at any rate of No. 2. In fact in many cases one is assured it will do better.

were replied to by Mr. Speakman with apparent satisfaction, and the meeting closed with a hearty rendering of "God Save the King."

Most Northerly Police Post
Will Be Constructed Next Year On Ellesmere Island

The world's most northerly police post and also the most remote of any human habitation, is to be constructed next year for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at the far end of Ellesmere Island. Building materials and two years' supplies have been cached within easy freighting distance of the point. Three men will be detailed for patrol duty on the indescribably lonely shore of Rice Straits.

SYNOPSIS

Bush McTaggart, the factor of Post MacBain, a brutal and unscrupulous schemer, was determined to marry Nepeese, the beautiful Indian "princess," daughter of Pierrot, the trapper. He had tired of Marie, the slim Cree girl who had been his companion. McTaggart's advances were distasteful to Nepeese and aroused the enmity of her father, so the conscienceless factor plotted to do away with Pierrot, if necessary, to win his daughter for himself.

He chuckled again as he made his way through the darkness to the door. Nepeese as good as belonged to him. He would have her if it cost Pierrot's life. And—why not? It was all so easy. A shot on a lonely trap-line, a single knife-thrust—and who would know? Who would guess where Pierrot had gone? And it would be all Pierrot's fault. For the last time he had seen Pierrot, he had made an honest proposition: he would marry Nepeese. Yes, even that. He had told Pierrot so. He had told Pierrot that when the latter was his father-in-law, he would pay him double price for furs.

And Pierrot had stared—had stared with that strange, stunned look in his face, like a man dazed by a blow from a club. And so if he did not get Nepeese without trouble it would all be Pierrot's fault. To-morrow McTaggart would start again for the half-breed's country. And the next day Pierrot would have an answer for him. Bush McTaggart chuckled again when he went to bed.

Until the next to the last day Pierrot said nothing to Nepeese about what had passed between him and the factor at Lac Bain. Then he told her.

"He is a beast—a man-devil," he said, when he had finished. "I would rather see you out there—with her dead." And he pointed to the tall spruce under which the princess mother lay.

Nepeese had not uttered a sound. But her eyes had grown bigger and darker, and there was a flush in her cheeks which Pierrot had never seen there before. She stood up when he had done, and she seemed taller to him. Never had she looked quite so much like a woman, and Pierrot's eyes were deep-shadowed with fear and uneasiness as he watched her while she gazed off into the northwest—toward Lac Bain.

She was wonderful, this slip of a girl-woman. Her beauty troubled him. He had seen the look in Bush McTaggart's eyes. He had heard the thrill in McTaggart's voice. He had caught the desire of a beast in McTaggart's face. It had frightened him at first. But now—he was not frightened. He was uneasy, but his hands were clenched. In his heart there was a smoldering fire. At last Nepeese turned and came and sat down beside him again, at his feet.

"And he pointed to the tall spruce under which the princess mother lay."

"He is coming to-morrow, in a hurry," he said. "What shall I tell him?"

The Willow's lips were red. Her eyes shone. But she did not look at her father.

"Nothing, Nootawe—except that you are to say to him that I am the one to whom he must come—for what he seeks."

Pierrot bent over and caught her smiling. The sun went down. His heart sank with it, like cold lead.

From Lac Bain to Pierrot's cabin the trail cut within half a mile of the beaver pond, a dozen miles from where Pierrot lived; and it was here, on a twist of the creek in which Wakayoo had caught fish for Baree, that Bush McTaggart made his camp for the night.

It was a splendid night that followed. Perhaps Baree would have slept through it in his nest on the top of the dam if the bacon smell had not stirred the new hunger in him. Since his adventure in the canyon, the deeper forest had held a dread for him, especially at night. But this night was like a pale, golden day: it was moonless; but the stars shone like a billion distant lamps, flooding the world in a soft and billowy sea of light. A gentle whisper of wind made pleasant sounds in the treetops. Beyond that it was very quiet.

In this silence Baree began to hunt. He stirred up a family of half-grown partridges, but they escaped him. He pursued a rabbit that was swifter than he. For an hour he had no luck. Then he heard a sound that made every drop of blood in him thrill. He was close to McTaggart's camp, and what he heard was a rabbit in one of McTaggart's snares. He came out into a little starlit open and there he saw the rabbit going through a most marvelous pantomime. It amazed him for a moment, and he stopped in his tracks.

Wapoos, the rabbit, had run his furry head into the snare, and his first frightened jump had "shot" the sapling to which the copper wire was attached so that he was now hung half in midair, with only his hind feet touching the ground. And there he was dancing madly while the noose about his neck slowly choked him to death.

Baree gave a sort of gasp. He could understand nothing of the part that the wire and the sapling were playing in this curious game. All he could see was that Wapoos was hopping and dancing about on his hind legs in a most puzzling and unrabbit-like fashion. It may be that he thought it some sort of play. In this instance, however, he did not regard Wapoos as he had looked on Unisk the beaver. He knew that Wapoos made mighty fine eating, and after another moment or two of hesitation he darted upon his prey.

McTaggart had heard no sound, for the snare into which Wapoos had run his head was the one set farthest from the camp. Beside the smouldering coals of his fire he sat with his back to a tree, smoking his black pipe and dreaming covetously of Nepeese, when Baree continued his night wandering. Baree no longer had the desire to hunt. He was too full. But he nosed in and out of the starlit spaces, enjoying immensely the stillness and the golden glow of the night. He was following a rabbit run when he came to a place where two fallen logs left a trail no wider than his body. He squeezed through; something tightened about his neck; there was a sudden snap—a swish as the sapling was released from its "trigger"—and Baree was jerked off his feet so suddenly that he had no time to conjecture as to what was happening.

The yelp in his throat died in a gurgle, and the next moment he was going through the pantomimic actions of Wapoos, who was having his vengeance inside him. For the life of him Baree could not keep from dancing about, while the wire grew tighter and tighter about his neck. When he snapped at the wire and flung the weight of his body to the ground, the sapling would bend obligingly, and then—in its rebound—would yank him for an instant completely off the earth. Furiously he struggled. It was a miracle that the fine wire held him. In a few moments more it must have broken—but McTaggart had heard him! The Factor caught up his blanket and a heavy stick as he hurried toward the snare. It was not a rabbit making those sounds—he knew that. Perhaps a fisher-cat—a lynx, a fox, a young wolf—

It was the wolf he thought of first when he saw Baree at the end of the wire. He dropped the blanket and raised the club. If there had been clouds overhead, or the stars had been less brilliant, Baree would have died as surely as Wapoos had died. With the club raised over his head McTaggart saw in time the white star, the white-tipped ear, and the jet black of Baree's coat.

With a swift movement he exchanged the club for the blanket.

In that hour, could McTaggart have looked ahead to the days that were to come, he would have used the club.

CHAPTER XII.

Half an hour later Bush McTaggart's fire was burning brightly again. In the glow of it Baree lay trussed up like an Indian papoose, tied into a balloon-shaped ball with babiche thong, his head alone showing where his captor had cut a hole for it in the blanket. He was hopelessly caught—so closely imprisoned in the blanket that he could scarcely move a muscle of his body. A few feet away from him McTaggart was bathing a bleeding hand in a basin of water. There was also a red streak down the side of McTaggart's bullish neck.

"You little devil," he snarled at Baree. "You little devil!"

He reached over suddenly and gave Baree's head a vicious blow with his heavy hand.

"I ought to beat your brains out—and I believe I will!"

Would Camp In Tonquin Valley

Wonderful Climbing Field Found In Jasper National Park

That the Tonquin Valley district of Jasper National Park offers one of the best climbing fields of the entire Canadian Rockies, where experienced climbers will find many splendid peaks worthy of their best efforts, was the statement made to members of the Winnipeg section of the Alpine Club of Canada at a recent meeting by Dr. J. W. A. Hickson, of Montreal, president of the club. Dr. Hickson spoke on the 1925 camp in the Southern Rockies and urged that the 1926 annual camp be held in the Tonquin Valley. There, he said, the members of the club would find such peaks as Redoubt, Barbican, Turret and Geddie awaiting the hardened climbers, and there also were many unclimbed peaks awaiting conquerors. At the same time, there were many fairly easy peaks which could be used for graduating climbers. The Tonquin Valley, he explained, was easily reached from the Canadian National Railway station at Jasper in a one-day journey and on arrival there the members would find one of the best, if not the best, climbing fields in the entire Canadian Rockies.

MAKE CARE OF BABIES EASIER

Baby's Own Tablets Are a Great Help to Mothers of Young Children

Stomach disturbances and constipation are responsible for much of the peevishness of babies. The modern mother does not resort to so-called soothing mixtures but corrects the trouble by sweetening the little stomach and giving a gentle laxative that acts without griping. Such a remedy is found in Baby's Own Tablets, easy to take and guaranteed to be free from opiates or narcotics.

Every mother who tries Baby's Own Tablets becomes enthusiastic about them. Mrs. Oscar Auger, Holyoke, Mass., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets and think them a splendid medicine for constipation and other ailments which affect little ones. I have no hesitation in recommending them to other mothers." Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. A little booklet, "Care of the Baby in Health and Sickness," will be sent free to any mother on request.

From School Teacher
To Great Eminence

A young man who was brought up on a farm in Western Pennsylvania studied diligently and qualified for district school teacher. Further pursuing his studies and teaching, he managed to save up enough money to put him thru medical college. After the Civil War, he began the practice of medicine in the new oil section of Pa., and often rode horse-back thru the woods to reach and relieve those who were seriously ill. He was a student of nature, knew and could easily recognize most of the medicinal plants growing in the woods.

Later, he moved to Buffalo, N.Y., where he launched his favorite remedies, and, in a short time, they were sold by every druggist in the land. Today, the name of this man, Dr. R. V. If your druggist does not sell the "Discovery," in liquid or tablets, you can obtain a trial pkg. of the tablets by sending 10c to Dr. Pierce's Branch Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont.

Providing Fuel For Motors

Billions of Dollars Are Spent Yearly
For Gasoline

Few people realize what it means to provide fuel for the millions of automobiles in daily use. In 1900, before motor car production was well under way, the annual production of crude oil was 63,000,000 barrels. This year it may surpass 1,000,000,000 barrels. In 1900 the gasoline production was 7,000,000 barrels. This year it will probably surpass 250,000,000 barrels. The investment in the oil industry is now estimated at $8,000,000,000, against about $1,000,000,000 fifteen years ago. The United States alone will this year probably consume 7,000,000,000 gallons of gasoline, which at 20 cents per gallon would mean an expenditure of $1,400,000,000. —Thrift Magazine.

Plan Forest Reserve

With a view to establishing a Dominion forest reserve comprising several thousand acres in the clay belt at Mile 112, Hudson's Bay Railway, survey work is being carried out. RHEUMATIC PEOPLE CAN NOW FIND RELIEF

By Driving the Poisonous Acid From the System

Rheumatism attacks people when the blood is thin and watery, or charged with impurities, thus setting up inflammation of the muscles and joints. Cold, wet weather or sharp winds may start the palms, but the cause is rooted in the blood and to get relief it must be treated through the blood. As a blood builder and nerve tonic Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unsurpassed, and for that reason do not fail to give relief to rheumatic sufferers when given a fair trial. Among the rheumatic sufferers who have proved the great value of this medicine is Mrs. Simeon J. Tatton, Indian Head, Sask., who says:—"For over two years I was an intense sufferer from rheumatism and until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills no treatment that I took helped me any. The trouble grew so bad that I could not move around the house without help, and finally I had to give up and go to bed. Words cannot tell how much I suffered, and I could not bear to have anyone come near me. Finally one of my neighbors strongly urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided to do so. In the course of a few weeks I could feel an improvement, and I was able to get up. I kept on taking the pills until all traces of the trouble were gone, and I could again do my housework, feeling like a new person. Three years have passed since that and there has never been the slightest return of the trouble, so that I feel safe in saying that the relief brought by this medicine is permanent."

You can get the pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

23 THE PRO

Using Improper English

Warning Signs Placed Near Schools
Are Very Ungrammatical

Any place is a bad place for improper English, but there could scarcely be a worse place than in the vicinity of the schools. Yet we find adjacent to many schools all over the country, road signs that are shockingly ungrammatical, says Editor Denholm, of the Blenheim, Ont., News-Tribune, who is considerable of a globe-trotter. One does not need to go very far, he points out, to see neatly palmed warning signs "School—Go Slow." While outdoors this impropriety stares the students in the face as they go to and from school, indoors they are taught that the expression is wrong, and to be correct they must say, "Go Slowly." The use of correct English in public places should be absolutely adhered to, and in the matter of placing signs or correcting them, if brevity is desirable, the Blenheim paper recommends "School Zone," or another often used in Great Britain, "School—Caution."

Answer To Last Week's Puzzle

Kipling's Digestion Good
The kiwi is the wingless, long-billed New Zealand bird which is supposed to be a diminutive cousin of the extinct moa. Its flesh resembles a combination of strings, cement, and oil. Rudyard Kipling, in conversation with a New Zealander, recently confessed that he had eaten, or had helped to eat, a kiwi when he visited that overseas dominion "down under." The fact that Mr. Kipling survived the meal is a tribute to his digestive powers.

PIKE—MILLER

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Miller, Didsbury, on Thursday, Oct. 1st, at 4 o'clock, in the presence of a few friends, when their only daughter, Vivian Edna and Rev. Clarence J. Pike of Kentucky were united in holy matrimony, the Rev. H. E. Roppel officiating.

The bride, who was given away by her father, entered the living room to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Anna Mueller.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white satin, wore a veil trimmed with orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of roses.

Miss Ethel Burgess of Calgary, dressed in pale pink silk crepe, also carried a bouquet of carnations and acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. Earl Miller, brother of the bride, was best man.

Miss Lydia Wolfe of Olds sweetly sang, "Oh Perfect Love."

Following the ceremony the bride and groom viewed numerous beautiful gifts, after which a dainty buffet lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Pike left on the evening train for Seattle where they will spend their honeymoon, returning to Didsbury for a short time before leaving for their home in Hubble, Kentucky.

Jake Miller, a farmer of Mayton, was instantly killed on Wednesday of last week when kicked over the heart by a horse.

Death of Mrs. D. C. Eby.

(From the Gospel Banner)
Dear Banner Readers: Rev. 2:10,
"Be thou faithful unto death and I will give you a crown of life."
The blow has fallen! Mrs. Eby is gone! After an illness of over three months she passed away July 28th, 1925, at 3 a.m. She was born
July 3rd, 1885, near Madoc, Ont.
She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, mother, two sisters and a host of friends.

She was converted at eight years of age but later got discouraged but at twelve years made a new start and shortly after was sanctified, and from that time until her death lived a devoted, consistent Christian life. After finishing High School and Normal at Madoc she taught school for four years. She has been a member of the M.B.C.
Church since 1907. In 1908 we were united in marriage. The Lord gave us four children; two boys and two girls, all of whom have passed on before.

We labored together as pastor and wife on the Hespeler field, in the Ontario Conference, for one and a half years, then we were accepted as missionaries to Hadjin, Turkey. After almost five years
we were forced to return to Canada on account of the war, and were given charge of the Didsbury, Alberta, pastorate. After three years there and a few months at Alsask, Sask., we again left for Turkey.
After one short year the Kemalist war started and for three months we were under siege; later being taken out by the Turks we again returned to Canada and again took up the work in the Canadian North West Conference. Again feeling the call of this needy field we offered ourselves for the work in Syria, and have been here almost two years.

The funeral service took place at Damascus, at the house first, then at the Protestant Church. She is buried in the Protestant cemetery, a beautiful quiet spot outside the city. There are quite a number of English missionaries buried here, so she is not the only one to lay down her life for the cause of Christ in Damascus.

Pray for us that God may give us
grace to be true to him. We know
He is too wise to err and too good to be unkind. So we trust Him still.

Your Brother,
D. C. EBY.

Didsbury Grows 'em Big.

An enormous cabbage borne in the arms of W. Rupp, temporarily shut out daylight in the Pioneer Office on Monday. This vegetable, he informed us, was only one of many grown on his farm the past summer. The weight of the cabbage is twenty-four pounds and it measures about fourteen and a half inches across. The seed was sold under the name of Copenhagen, a name that in this case tickles the imagination. The soil on Mr.
Rupp's farm is a black sandy loam, is extraordinarily fertile, and even after twenty-four years of cultivation, is still able to produce abundantly. Speaking reministently of his arrival in this district
Mr. Rupp said in 1901 they had an open winter, and stock roamed around with practically no expense to the owner. He remembers it well as he had a bunch of thirty six head of cattle and the cost for the entire winter amounted to only $2.65.

Bring British Immigrants In

There are many questions affecting national policies in Canada in regard to which it is natural there should be wide divergences of opinion, but there is one subject, immigration, upon which it should be possible to find common ground. East and West and the Maritimes may differ in regard to tariff schedules, freight rates, railway construction policies, and harbor improvements, but one and all are vitally interested in the question of population and in taxation problems.

Every Province in Canada still possesses large areas open to settlement and only awaiting people to bring them under cultivation and thus render them productive and a source of national wealth. Even the most thickly settled rural districts in Canada are capable of sustaining a denser population through more intensified farming, while in Northern Ontario and Quebec and in all four Western Provinces there are vast unpeopled areas.

On the other hand, there are some millions more people in the British Isles than there are avenues of employment open to them. The British Government is therefore obliged to support these people in idleness, while the population goes on increasing in a greater ratio than the capabilities of the country to employ and support. Nor, in the changed industrial conditions which have resulted from the war, does there seem to be any possibility of a material improvement in this situation.

In times past the United States absorbed large numbers of immigrants from the British Isles, but under its quota system the doors of the big American republic are now practically closed. There is a good and sufficient reason for this new United States policy. Population across the line has now reached over 110,000,000, and the annual natural increase is 1,500,000. In other words, every recurring decennial census shows an increase in population of 15,000,000. Before long the figure will be 20,000,000. By far the larger portion of this increase is in the cities, with the result that the United States is rapidly reaching the point where it will no longer be a self-contained and self-supporting nation able to feed its own people. It has, therefore, and quite naturally, called a halt to immigration.

Canada, however, occupies an entirely different position. Our population is small and our territory large, and for the most part unsettled. It is open to serious question whether Canada is morally justified in rigidly restricting immigration, and holding large areas unsettled and idle, when millions in the British Isles lack employment because there is none to be had.

Canada may feel that it is not called upon to contribute to the upkeep of the British Navy, and that it should not obligate itself to participate in the defence of the Empire as a whole, and in other respects should not be expected to adopt policies purely from an Empire standpoint. But situated as the Dominion is in the matter of population and vacant territory it can hardly be denied that, so long as it is part of the Empire, it has some responsibility for the welfare of all British people.

At the present time Canada could render no better service to the Empire, and incidentally to itself, than by evolving and putting into effect a well-considered plan whereby a large number of people from the British Isles could be transferred to this Dominion. Something is being done, but not nearly enough. At present we are only nibbling at immigration, instead of going into it in wholesale fashion.

True there are misfits which it would be a mistake to bring to Canada or send elsewhere. There are those who by reason of physical handicaps could not succeed in this country. There are others whose whole training is not calculated to enable them to adapt themselves to any other environment than the one they are now in. But there are thousands who could and would succeed in Canada if the means were provided to get them here and give them a fair start.

Canada's doors should be wide open to any Anglo-Saxon capable and willing to work. Let there be health tests to keep out the mentally, morally and physically unfit, but the amount of ready cash an immigrant may or may not have should not be a factor deciding his or her eligibility to enter Canada.

Some Trade Unions may take a shortsighted and narrow view of immigration, timid and fearful that an influx of immigrants would jeopardize their own jobs, but past experience has proved such fears to be groundless. Western Canada, at all events, should insist that the new Parliament to be elected on October 29 grapple with this question, and make provision for an entirely new and better era in immigration.

Orange Free State Is Rich

Became Definitely British Just Twenty-five Years Ago

The Orange Free State, which the Prince of Wales recently visited, is one of the "babies" of the British empire. It became definitely British only in 1900—just twenty-five years ago.

At this place, however, the Prince saw the "shining stones," as the Bushmen call the diamonds, dug out of the earth, washed, sorted and finally weighed.

The tunnels in the mines are lighted by electricity and ventilated by compressed air, while the machinery is some of the costliest in the world.

The temptation among the workers to steal a diamond is great, yet few thefts occur.

Even if a native did steal a stone it would be of no use to him. He cannot sell it, or dispose of it easily, for all diamond dealers must be registered and licensed, and no black man dares to offer for sale a precious stone to a reputable white man.

Not only has the Orange Free State its mineral wealth. It possesses also some ten million sheep, one and a half million cattle, half a million Angora goats, a quarter of a million horses, and also over ten thousand ostriches!

Many Auto Accidents In United States

Records Show That Two Are Killed Every Hour In Day

The death rate in the United States due to automobile accidents leads the world, being 14.8 fatalities for every 100,000 population against 5.2 in England and Wales, 4.3 in Scotland, 3.6 in New Zealand and 3.6 in Canada during 1923. Figures for 1924 show that for 155 American cities, the automobile accident death rate was 19.4 per 100,000 population, causing not less than 17,400 deaths in automobile accidents, not counting accidents which involved railroads, or street cars, and automobiles.

The toll of human life taken by motor vehicles in the United States was at the rate of more than two for every hour in the day. These statistics have been compiled by the National Safety Council for consideration at the Fourteenth Annual Congress which opened at Cleveland on Sept. 28.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

OCTOBER 11

PAUL IN CORINTH

Golden Text: Be not afraid, but speak and hold not thy peace. Acts 18:9.

Lesson: Acts 18:1-17.

Devotional Reading: I. Corinthians 3:1-7.

The Text Explained and Illumined

Paul supports himself at Corinth by the Labor of His Hands, verses 1-3.—In 61 B.C., Pompey brought Jewish prisoners to Rome, and the settlement grew rapidly. Tiberius deported four thousand Roman Jews to Sardinia "in the hope that the malaria might kill them." Claudius came to the throne in 41 A.D. He was indebted to Herod Agrippa of Jerusalem for help in gaining the throne, and on that account he granted favors to the Roman Jews. But when the Jewish zealots of Judea revolted against the Roman yoke it was not deemed safe to permit their kindred to remain in the imperial city, and Claudius issued an edict ordering all Jews to leave Rome. Suetonius, in his life of the Emperor Claudius, gives another reason for the edict: It was "because they were in a state of continual tumult at the instigation of our Christus." It is thought that the Romans, hearing the name Christus, Christos (Christ) so often, supposed him to be one of the leaders of the Roman Jews. "Suetonius no doubt means that the dissensions between the Jews and Christians had already risen to such a height as to attract public attention and appear to threaten the public peace. Yet when the Jews were expelled from Rome scarcely twenty years had elapsed since the death of Christ. Paul did not arrive in Rome till ten years after this date. No other apostle had been there. The good seed had sprung up of itself. The great Roman church was founded we know not how. But for the casual phrase of a heathen historian, we should not have known that it was a strong, zealous church in the days of Emperor Claudius."

The Man With Asthma almost longs for death to end his suffering. He sees ahead only years of endless torment with intervals of rest which are themselves fraught with never ceasing fear of renewed attacks. Let him turn to Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy and know what complete relief it can give. Let him but use it faithfully and he will find his asthma a thing of the past.

MANY CHARGES ARE LAID AGAINST FRUIT CONCERN

Vancouver.—Eight hundred and sixty-three charges involved in an indictment of 16 counts against 42 fruit firms and 11 individuals in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, were handed to the grand jury at the assize court here this afternoon by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald, presiding judge.

Theft, fraud, falsification of books for purposes of deceit, market juggling and price manipulation, restraint of trade, interference with sound business competition, syndicating and general combining to cheat the grower and the consumer, with serious injury to the fruit growing industry in Canada, are contained in the charges.

Trial of the fruit interests of Western Canada in Vancouver will take place at the instigation of the federal department of justice.

The jurisdiction of the court has been extended to cover territory ranging from the coast to Winnipeg, and J. C. McRuer, Toronto lawyer, has come to Vancouver to prosecute for the crown. The indictment will remain with the grand jury, it is expected, for several days before a bill is returned.

Says Disaster Could Have Been Avoided

Accident to Shenandoah is Blamed on Chief Officer

Lakehurst, N.J.—The disaster to the airship Shenandoah was "entirely and very easily avoidable," Captain Anton Heinen, former German Zeppelin pilot, declared before the naval court of inquiry here.

"Does your criticism apply to the handling of the ship on that occasion?" asked Rear-Admiral Jones, president of the court.

"It does," Heinen said. "Whom do you hold responsible?" Heinen paused. "I hold responsible the man in charge of the ship during the flight," he finally said.

Plot Against King George Is Denied

Scotland Yard Says Report Is Absolutely Without Foundation

London.—Concluding their holiday at Balmoral, King George and Queen Mary have returned to Buckingham Palace. A published report that an attempt to assassinate the British ruler had been revealed to Scotland Yard was characterized by officials of that organization as a "flat canard." The home officials also told the United Press that the report was "absolutely without foundation."

Communism Rampant in England New York.—Lady Cowan, president of the British Women's Patriotic League, and wife of Sir Henry Cowan, inter-parliamentary union delegate, said that British Communists have established Sunday Schools throughout England for the purpose of undermining the faith of children in God and the government. Communism, she said, is stronger in England than in almost any other European country.

Nova Scotia Has Big Deficit Halifax.—The Halifax Herald in its news column says: "Deficit on current accounts of two millions, possibly more, a gross debt that may reach $38,000,000; these are the appalling figures that face the people of Nova Scotia for the fiscal year 1925, which closed Sept. 30, according to statements by Hon. G. S. Harrington, acting premier and provincial secretary-treasurer."

No Crop Failures Winnipeg.—Not one crop failure in the provinces of Manitoba during the 1925 season, is the report of the provincial department of agriculture. Wheat averages 19½ bushels to the acre and oats 44.

To Vote At 93 Winnipeg.—Ninety-three years of age, Catherine Coleman has registered her name on the list of electors for the coming election.

Australian Treaty Becomes Effective

Canada Gets British Preferential Rates On Certain Articles

Ottawa.—The Australian trade treaty became effective Oct. 1.

It went into effect in Canada and Australia simultaneously, and Canadian dealers in commodities affected by the rates provided for in the new treaty have been notified.

Under the new agreement, Australia gives Canada British preferential rates on certain articles, and intermediate tariff rates on other commodities.

Canada grants to Australia special rates on a number of articles, including raisins and dried currants. These enter Canada free, under the treaty, while under the general tariff they are subject to a duty of three cents a pound.

Mitchell Launches Charges

Delivers Verbal Bombshell At U. S. Investigation

Washington.—Condensing all of his previous charges into one verbal bombshell, Col. Wm. Mitchell concluded his testimony before the president's air board by charging the navy with "amateur bungling" of its last three major aeronautical projects.

In rapid succession, the former assistant army chief told the board that incompetency and mismanagement by the navy sent the dirigible Shenandoah to its doom on a "propaganda mission," to the middle west, that tropical type planes were given navy fliers with the MacMillan Arctic expedition and that the Hawaiian flight was attempted with a gas supply known to be inadequate.

Rapid Growth Of Wheat

Time Is 113 Days From Seeding To Lakehead Delivery

Saskatoon.—Just 113 days after he put the seed in the ground, wheat grown on the farm of Bert Clearwater, near here, has been unloaded at Port Arthur. Mr. Clearwater began his seeding operations May 17 of this year and finished threshing August 29. His grain had been unloaded at the lakehead September 7. The wheat, which was sown on spring ploughing, yielded 24½ bushels to the acre. Mr. Clearwater maintains this is a new speed record for Canada.

Estimate of Wheat Crop Higher

Regina, Sask.—Saskatchewan's wheat crop, now that threshing is well advanced, is turning out far better than estimates compiled as late as August 12 would indicate.

E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in an interview here, placed the crop now being taken off in this province at 240,550,708 bushels.

His estimate in early August was 208,000,000 bushels.

Will Break All Records

Winnipeg.—"Without a doubt all previous records for the movement of grain from the head of the lakes will go by the boards this season before freeze-up," said L. H. Boyd, chairman of the board of grain commissioners, who is enroute west to inspect elevators. Mr. Boyd also expects Vancouver to get a good share of the 1925 crop.

Delayed By Bad Weather

Spezia, Italy.—George H. C. Smythe, Canadian canoeist paddling from Naples to Leningrad, Russia, on a wager of 10,000 lire, has been forced to put into Porto Venere Roads because of bad weather. Smythe left Naples August 18 on his present voyage. He recently paddled from Dover to Rome.

The Argentine Navy

Buenos Aires.—It is reported that the Argentine Senate in secret session has given its assent to an expenditure of 75,000,000 gold pesos for armaments and repairs to the Argentine navy. A bill providing this expenditure recently was sent to Congress by President D'Alvear.

Irish Visitor Is Assaulted

Philadelphia.—Richard Mulcahy, minister of defence in the Irish Free State, was struck in the face by one of a group of men and women at Independence Hall, while visiting the building with other members of the inter-parliamentary party. About fifteen arrests were made.

OPPOSE MOVE TO RESCIND GRAIN RATES TO WEST

American Editors Interested

Trip Through Western Canada Described By R. J. C. Stead

Ottawa.—G. G. McGeer, K.C., counsel for British Columbia, maintained before the railway commission, in opposing the application for recession of the McKeown-Oliver order on westward grain rates, that under that order the railway companies would gain rather than lose. He asserted that the rate for a 640-mile haul to Vancouver was 21 cents, while on a 1,280-mile haul to Fort William, it was 26 cents. Without going into the point at this time, Mr. McGeer declared that the rate to Vancouver should be 18 cents instead of 21 cents.

The railway companies, Mr. McGeer argued, should be pleased with Vancouver's effort to relieve them of the long unprofitable haul from Alberta to Fort William. The westward traffic would be more profitable to them. He contended also that removal of discrimination against Vancouver would bring to Canada business now going to Buffalo and to American railways.

The British Columbia counsel declared that the grain trade of Vancouver was being seriously disrupted through not knowing what the rate was to be and he asked that the application be dismissed at once. If the board could not see its way clear to dismissing it, at least a decision, whatever it was, should not be delayed.

Child Welfare Conference

Divergent Views on the Question of Juvenile Immigration

Ottawa.—Charges against conditions of juvenile immigration were freely flung at the Child Welfare conference here. A rough division of the speakers for and against would place the representative of the Barnardo Homes, Percy Roberts and those of the department of immigration on one side, while provincial men in charge of delinquent children, social workers, both professional and voluntary, and at least one mental expert ranged themselves against juvenile immigration as it had been conducted. The result was that the Child Welfare Council proposed to conduct an impartial survey of a given number of such immigrants over a period of years.

Floods In Tokio

Tokio.—Another severe rainstorm swept Japan, flooding many thousands of houses in Tokio and other cities. Several were killed and injured by landslides. The water entered the Imperial Hotel, Tokio, shutting off all the lights and water supply temporarily.

New Canadian Prima Donna

This is Miss Loretta McEwen, soprano, chosen out of a hundred Canadian competitors, as possessing the greatest possibilities for an operatic career. With her is Captain Clews, of the Canadian Pacific liner Melita. Miss McEwen is on her way to Paris to study her art, under Madame Pauline, world-famed songstress.

The competition in which Miss McEwen was successful, was held recently in Montreal. Voices from all over the Dominion were heard by Madame Donald, who adjudicated.

Miss McEwen possesses a soprano voice of great range and power, is a good actress, well educated, speaks French and English fluently and is conversant with Italian and Spanish. Madame Donald has expressed the opinion that there is a great career before the singer just brought into the limelight.

Miss McEwen is the daughter of Mr. William McEwen, of Outremont, Montreal. On her father's side the descent is Scotch, and on her mother's it is French. "I hope I shall bring credit to Canada," were her farewell words to friends seeing her off on the Melita, which sailed from Montreal.

URGE EXTENSIVE DISSEMINATION OF EMPIRE NEWS

Melbourne, Australia.—After a lengthy discussion, the Imperial Press conference passed a resolution urging the more extensive publication of news of the empire in the press of Great Britain and the British dominions. This resolution was introduced by Sir Hugh Denison, former member of parliament for Adelaide, South Australia, and chairman and managing director of the Sun Newspapers Limited. The resolution as carried included an amendment to the effect that all members of the conference pledge themselves to the practical encouragement and increased publication of inter-imperial news.

The delegates to the conference listened with great interest to the address by J. H. Woods, of the Calgary Herald, president of the Canadian Press, on the system of coordination of news gathering and distribution of that organization. Mr. Woods suggested that the experience of successful operation of the Canadian Press would be found useful by the newspapers in other parts of the British empire. He described briefly the wire transmission system of the association of which he is president and also efforts made to extend its news gathering service.

Mr. Woods stressed the fact that the dominions had a duty one to another equal with the duty of Great Britain to all the dominions, and announced amid applause that negotiations were in progress for the exchange of more news between Canada and Australia and New Zealand by cable and mail.

Send Greetings To Press Conference

Canadian Publishers Broadcast Message to Melbourne, Australia

Pittsburg.—Canadian greetings to the Imperial Press conference meeting in Melbourne, Australia, were broadcast Sept. 30 from Station KDKA by means of a short wave relay. The messages were to be heard at the evening session of the conference owing to the difference in time, by means of loud speakers.

The greetings included messages from Lord Atholstan, owner of the Montreal Star; Hon. Smeaton White, of the Montreal Gazette; and Hon. P. R. Du Tremblay, La Presse, Montreal.

To Prevent Smuggling

Steps Taken to Curb Liquor and Smuggling Traffic

Ottawa.—Regulations for the suppression of smuggling between Canada and the United States approved recently by the governments of the two countries, were made public tonight. Provisions are announced to prevent clearances of small motor boats and similar craft for points in Cuba or Mexico, where it is suspected that the cargo is intended to be smuggled into the United States or Canada; and for the exchange of information regarding persons engaged in the narcotic traffic.

Clemenceau Celebrates Birthday

Nantes, France.—Georges Clemenceau, France's war-time premier, celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday here. The "celebration" consisted of glancing at the calendar for a moment and then returning to work. The "Tiger," who is keen-eyed, grim, hale and hearty, is busy writing a work on philosophy, dealing with the conception of God through the ages.

A Unique Trail

Anchorage, Alaska.—A tree trail, 500 miles long, stretches across the bleak Alaskan hills as a tribute to the natives' ingenuity. The trail was made by setting willow posts, which took root and grew into trees. Every now and then along the route native characters and English words denote distances from various camps and villages.

Turks Are Recruiting

Constantinople.—Four classes of recruits, ranging from the ages of 22 to 25 years, have been called to the colors. The officers of the first and second reserves are to undergo medical examination.
